Over the past five years, the U.S. Department of Labor has provided grants, leadership and support to nearly 20,000 participants in 257 YouthBuild programs across the country.

YouthBuild may be known for building houses, but we know the skills, education and second chances these young people receive is building much more!