Adventures in Education

Adventures In Education (AIE™) is a public-service program developed by TG, a nonprofit corporation that helps students plan and complete their journey through higher education. By providing a Web site and other free resources to students, parents, counselors, and educators, AIE encourages individuals to discover and pursue educational opportunities. AIE promotes a better tomorrow by preparing students and families for the adventure today. This tool focuses on planning for postsecondary education, and may be helpful to use in conjunction with workplace skills and career exploration lessons.
